When Promoting An Interview with Gary Boomershine

Subject Ideas:

- Must See: real estate investor solved the biggest problems with investing today
- Can he really make most of the work go away?
- Innovation in real estate investing, how to do it right and do it big
- (Advanced) For established investors only

BODY:

This won't be for everyone, but might be a really valuable connection for the right person.

If you're an ESTABLISHED real estate investor (or even an agent) who is doing deals, marketing for motivated sellers and out there in the trenches, this is for you.

I've got a colleague who's discovered how to simplify the most challenging part of real estate investing: getting appointments with qualified, ready motivated sellers who want to hear your offer...

WITHOUT...adding anything new to what you're doing, in fact he helps you remove 80% of your workload.

His name is Gary Boomershine, he's an innovator who has pioneered the concept of managed marketing services for real estate investors.

I recently did an interview with him where we peaked behind the scenes and had him reveal how it all works and why real estate investors around the country are lined up to work with him and their team.

You can watch the interview here: INSERT AFFILIATE LINK

Because this is for players... people who are IN the game now, you'll probably learn some things you can immediately implement.

Even if you're just getting started, sharpening your skills but haven't been able to get consistent deal flow yet, you'll like this because it will show you what to shoot for.

I'm excited for you to watch this and give me your feedback.

WITHOUT...adding anything new to what you're doing, in fact he helps you remove 80% of your workload.

Gary Boomershine is the founder of RElvault, a multi-Inc 5000 Fastest Growing Company and a highly experienced investor.

RElvault is a virtual sales and marketing agency for investors that lets them leverage a 40+ member team whose sole job is to get you appointments with sellers... not just leads.

Instead of building a huge team or managing a group of virtual assistants, they let you tap into their systems for your business.

It's why real estate investors around the country are lined up to work with him and their team.

The catch is, you have to have some experience, you have to be serious and committed. They don't work with folks who are just learning how to close deals.

Gary said the common thread of his clients is that they're the type who say "just put me on the phone with a seller and I can close the deal."

You can watch and read about the details here: INSERT AFFILIATE LINK

There's nothing to purchase, in fact you can't just hire them outright. They need to make sure it's a mutual fit.

So you'll see a link on the next page LINK to schedule a quick call to determine if there's a mutual fit.

I suggest you schedule the call no matter what, you'll be surprised at just how much they do and how well they do it.
